The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde

Toki Pona Edition with Sitelen Pona — pre-production layout sample

---

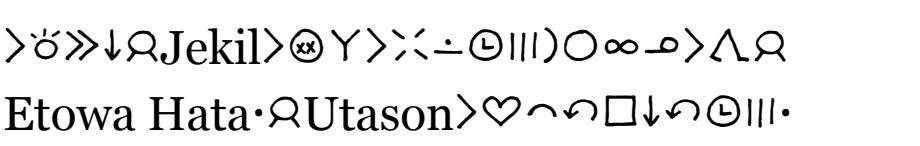

ENGLISH SOURCE — chapter II, abridged only for layout testing

That evening Mr. Utterson opened his safe and took out the will of Dr. Jekyll. It provided that Jekyll's possessions should pass to Edward Hyde if Jekyll died, disappeared, or was absent without explanation for more than three months. The lawyer had long hated the document. Now that he knew something of Hyde, the name began to gather detestable attributes.

TOKI PONA — model draft; human literary review required

tenpo pimeja ni la jan Utason li open e poki awen, li jo e lipu lawa pi jan Jekil. lipu li toki e ni: jan Jekil li moli anu li weka lon tenpo mute la, ijo ale ona li tawa jan Etowa Hata. jan Utason li pilin ike tan lipu ni tan tenpo mute. tenpo ni la, ona li sona e pali ike pi jan Hata. nimi Hata li kama lukin sama nimi pi jan ike mute.

SITELEN PONA — existing OFL font; proper names intentionally remain Latin pending name strategy

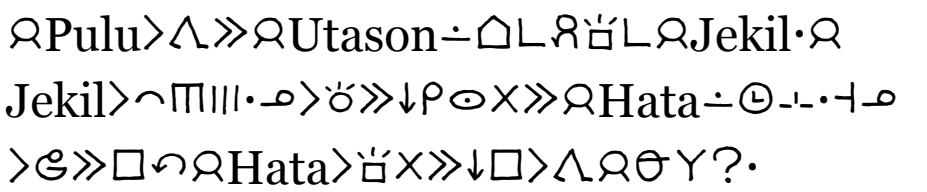

ENGLISH SOURCE — chapter VI, abridged only for layout testing

Poole led Utterson through the old dissecting rooms to Jekyll's cabinet. Jekyll looked deathly ill. He said he would never see Hyde again, but asked Utterson whether a letter should go to the police. The letter, signed Edward Hyde, promised that Hyde had a means of escape. Jekyll had burned the envelope; Poole had seen no messenger.

TOKI PONA — model draft; human literary review required

jan Pulu li tawa e jan Utason lon tomo pi pali sona pi jan Jekil. jan Jekil li ike sijelo mute. ona li toki e ni: mi lukin ala e jan Hata lon tenpo sin. taso ona li jo e lipu tan jan Hata, li sona ala e ni: lipu li tawa jan lawa anu seme. lipu li toki e ni: jan Hata li jo e nasin weka. jan Jekil li seli e selo pi lipu. jan Pulu li lukin ala e jan pi pana lipu.

SITELEN PONA — existing OFL font; proper names intentionally remain Latin pending name strategy

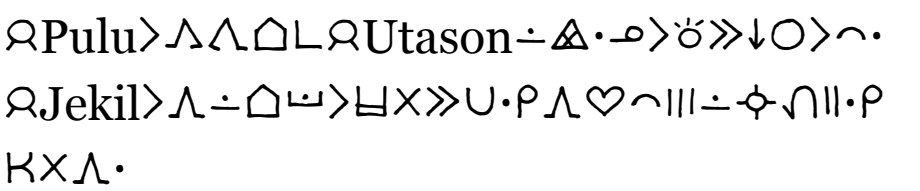

ENGLISH SOURCE — chapter VIII, abridged only for layout testing

Poole came to Utterson after dinner. He said something was wrong: Jekyll had shut himself in the cabinet again, and Poole had been afraid for about a week. Utterson asked him to say plainly what he feared.

TOKI PONA — model draft; human literary review required

jan Pulu li kama tawa tomo pi jan Utason lon pimeja. ona li toki e ni: ijo li ike. jan Jekil li awen lon tomo insa, li open ala e lupa. mi awen pilin ike mute lon suno luka tu. mi ken ala awen.

SITELEN PONA — existing OFL font; proper names intentionally remain Latin pending name strategy

This is a factory test artifact. It is not a final edition or a claim of human linguistic review.